The gentle antiseptic and antibacterial properties of rosewater make it an ideal toner for all skin types. It's made by distillation, but you can cheat with this quick and easy infusion method. Place two cups of freshly picked unsprayed rose petals and one litre of rain or spring water in a large saucepan. Cover and bring to the boil. Allow to cool completely before straining. To enhance the colour and scent, repeat the process, this time using two cups of fresh rose petals with the newly made rosewater. For pink rosewater, use red petals. Refrigerate in a sterilised and sealed glass container. This mixture will last for 7-10 days. Skin test on the inside of your arm before using.
